ACTIVITY OPTION

JUNGLE SURVIVAL

In search of a precious artefact, you and your team of archaeologists have been forced to make an emergency landing in the middle of the jungle!

With your map missing and compass destroyed, you must work together to collect items from the wreckage site, overcome jungle perils and find the artefact while keeping up your life points. As you delve deeper into your expedition, you'll encounter a variety of tasks, challenges and curveballs, some of which will increase your life points and others which will deplete them!

The winning team will have the most life points before the clock runs out – crowning them the surviving team! Can your team survive the dangers of the jungle and reclaim the precious artefact before time runs out?

THE AIM OF THE GAME

One of our Remote Facilitators will kickstart your jungle expedition with an uplifting virtual briefing. They'll give you as much information as possible about your survival adventure and the enchanted artefact you're searching for.

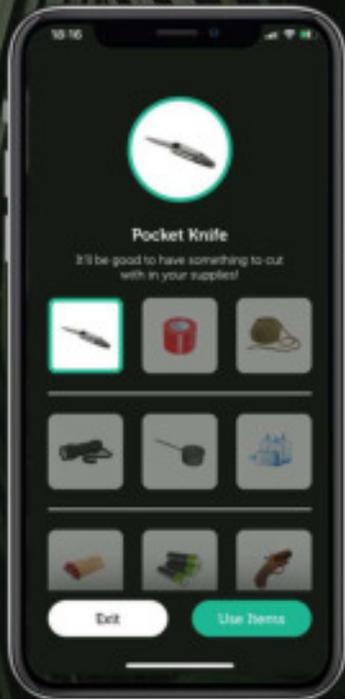

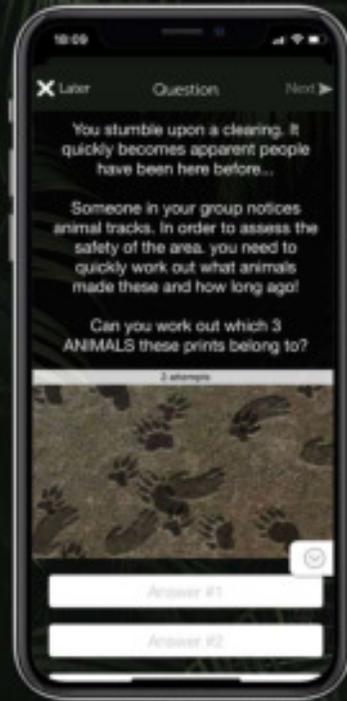

Working in teams of 4-6 players, you and your fellow explorers will use your own smartphone devices to first explore the wreckage site, picking up several virtual supplies. Teams must then move through five areas of the jungle completing a variety of challenges and overcoming obstacles as they go, some of which will increase your life points and some which will decrease them!

As you find and unlock supplies, they'll be added to your 'Collected Items' area within the app. These will come in handy for your survival! Players can also uncover tips using augmented reality. Each player will be able to track their team's progress through the live scoreboard and toggle between the different game screens as they progress.

The aim of the game is to work together to retain as many life points as possible to survive the jungle and hopefully retrieve the all-important artefact, all before time runs out! The winning team will be those with the highest number of positive life points.

WHO WILL RUN MY EVENT?

This activity is one of our Remote Hosted events and will be run from start to finish by one of our experienced remote facilitators via video link (Zoom is our preference but we can use other platforms too).

For this event, we will have one event host/facilitator for every 50 participants. They will remain on your call for the duration of the event to make sure everything runs smoothly and answer any questions participants may have.

HOW DOES THE ACTIVITY WORK?

This 'app-based' team building activity can be run in virtual or hybrid formats depending on your circumstances and situation.

VIRTUAL: Running this activity virtually, all participants can dial in to the Zoom call from wherever they are, whether it's at home or in the office, in the UK or abroad. Your dedicated event facilitator will welcome guests, deliver your event briefing remotely, split the group into teams, and run your event from start to finish. At the end of the activity, your facilitator will announce the results and 'wrap up'.

HYBRID: With some physical 'in person' teams taking part from the office or a venue, and some 'virtual' teams dialling in from home or elsewhere, the hybrid solution is a great way to get everyone involved in your event, even if they can't be there in the flesh. Just like the virtual option, your event facilitator will brief everyone via video link, arrange the teams, and run everything from start to finish.

WHAT DO I NEED TO DO BEFORE THE EVENT?

Before your event we will send you a detailed 'event details sheet' with all of the information you and your teammates will need. This will include the confirmed date and time of your event, the name of your event host, the Zoom link that will be needed to access the call, and details of how to download the gameplay app. All you need to do is send this information sheet to all those taking part, and let us look after the rest!

WHAT HAPPENS ON THE DAY OF MY EVENT?

On the day itself, everyone will be welcomed to the event by your event host as soon as they join the Zoom call. Once everyone has arrived, your event host will explain exactly what will happen during your activity and answer any initial questions.
